Explanatory Note for Small Business Administration (SBA) Report November 2, 2011

SBA established three TAFS accounts for Recovery Act appropriations, which funded a total of 16 projects/activities.

1. SBA received $69 million in appropriation to fund Salary and Expenses for 11 new projects that were Categorically Excluded. As of September 30, 2011, $69 million in ARRA funding was obligated for the 11 projects, which were:
 - a. Microloan Grant project
 - b. Automation project
 - c. Nine Capital Access Projects:
 - i. Section 501: Fee Reduction/Elimination
 - ii. Section 502: 90% Guarantee
 - iii. Section 503: Secondary Market Guarantee Authority
 - iv. Section 504: Certified Development Company (CDC) Lending (low interest financing and job creation goals)
 - v. Section 505: Small Business Investment Company (SBIC) Program changes
 - vi. Section 506: Business Stabilization (America's Recovery Capital [ARC] Loans)
 - vii. Section 508: Surety Bonds
 - viii. Section 509: Secondary Market Lending Authority
 - ix. Microloans
2. SBA received $15 million in appropriation to fund one project in the Surety Bond Guarantee program that was Categorically Excluded. As of September 30, 2011, $0 was obligated for this project.
3. SBA received $636 million in credit subsidy appropriation to fund four projects*. The four projects did not require NEPA review. These projects and activities accounted for over $575 million in ARRA funding that was obligated for the business loan program as of September 30, 2011. The four business loan projects were:
 - a. Two projects in the guaranteed loan programs (fee reduction and 90% guarantee)
 - b. One project in the Microloan program
 - c. One project in the Business Stabilization program (now called "ARC Loans")

*NEPA reporting does not apply to these ARRA TAFS because individual loans are not major federal actions significantly affecting the environment. See, for example the recent decision in Center for Biological Diversity v. United States Department of Housing and Urban Development, 541 F. Supp.2d 1091 (D. Ariz. 2008).
